Join Accenture, the Leading Global SAP Service Partner

Hello. We're the SAP team at Accenture, and we'd like to help you be better than you imagined possible. If you are watching this video, you're probably a deep SAP specialist with leading-edge skills and experience. And if you've never considered joining Accenture, we think you should, because for anyone serious about a career in SAP, Accenture is the place to be.

Why? For three key reasons: first, our world leadership in SAP. We've collaborated with SAP for three decades—working, investing and innovating together constantly. We're SAP's largest service partner—and SAP is our largest partner in enterprise software. Our leadership has been recognized with many SAP Pinnacle awards more than any other partner and numerous accolades from independent analysts.

The second reason to join us is the development opportunities. You will join teams of highly trained colleagues with industry, process and technology expertise, as well as business acumen, to undertake the most challenging and innovative projects. Also the SAP training you'll receive at Accenture is second-to-none and delivered flexibly in the way that suits you best. We're the only SAP partner to have bought SAP's Online Knowledge Education Content Library and entire Global Master Curriculum as resource for our people.

The third reason is the fantastic career path we provide. From day one, you'll move onwards and upwards along a defined trajectory. We're also such a broad organization that you can change jobs without ever changing companies and wherever you might want to work in the world—we're already there. So when you join our SAP team you'll truly step up onto the global stage. Come and talk to us—not just about your next job, but about your career. You'll be glad you did.
